Azure Computer Vision cognitive service

In Microsoft Azure, the Computer Vision cognitive service uses pre-trained models to analyse images, enabling software developers to easily build applications "see" the world and make sense of it. It is used in Intelligent Extractor to retrieve text from images.